Unanimously Approved

North Putnam Budget Presented For Public Hearing

Charles Frazee, superintendent of the North Putnam Community Schools, reported that the budget was presented for public hearing with no one appearing to protest or accept so the board unanimously approved the appropriation and the tax levy.

The levy for the general fund is $4.32 and the debt service, 98 cents, making a total levy of $5.30. Frazee stated that this is down about .10 cents from last year's total, basically reflecting an increase in assessed evaluation.

The problem of gasoline for the school buses was discussed, with Frazee relating to the board that he has been in communication with the federal regional office in Chicago which controls the allotments for fuels.

In other business, the board approved some teacher contracts. They included Nina Terrell as a vocational home economics teacher, Linda Lloyd as a business education instructor, and Frances Stevens as a language arts teacher in the Bainbridge Elementary Schools.

Modifications in the policy handbook were reviewed and approved. The basic change is in the definition of excused and unexcused absences.

Frazee reported to the Board that enrollment is down a little from last year. They also discussed the fact that money is being lost daily on the school lunch program. It was decided that the price may have to be increased by 10 cents.

The board discussed the North Putnam Teachers Association's request for exclusive representation for collective bargaining. A suggested answer was approved and will be discussed with the school's attorney by Frazee before being sent to the teachers.

Two County School Boards Meet To Approve Budgets

Arthur Johnson, Supt. for the Cloverdale Schools, stated that the tax rate for the Cloverdale area was set as advertised: general fund, $3.94; debt service, $.71; accumulative building fund, $.75; total, $5.40.

It was also reported to the Cloverdale School Board that enrollments are up about 100 overall. Some switches are being made in bus routes for the Cloverdale schools as a result of overloading in some areas. It was noted that approval was received on the Title I Allocation of $9,211.

The Cloverdale schools are now able to hire a special remedial reading teacher and an aid to assist her.

In other business, the board reviewed the policy on age to begin Kindergarten. No revisions were made, leaving the requirement at the child's reaching age five on or before Sept. 1.

The Greencastle School Board also met Thursday evening and their budget was approved as published. The levy for the general fund is $4.35; the debt service, $.63; the accumulative building fund, $.40; and the total, $5.38. Frank Ross, Supt. of the Greencastle schools, also gave a report on early enrollment figures.

Two Local Bars Raided Thursday

A raid was staged on two local bars Thursday night, resulting in the arrest of eight minors, according to Greencastle police chief John Pursell.

Raided by state excise officers and county and city police were the 713 Bar S. Main, and the Old Topper Tavern, at 729 S. Main, both in Greencastle.

Arrested were:

John B. Crum, 20; Cynthia J. Thias, 20; Marla K. Elliott, 20; Pamela R. White, 19; William B. Semmer, 20; Sara E. Belling, 19; John W. Deal, 20; and William M. Hickey.

Each was charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Board Directors Sign Contract

Meeting Wednesday night, the Putnam County Counseling Service Board of Directors signed its contract with the Putnam County United Fund for funding in 1974.

The Rev. Elgin Smith, president of service's board, signed the document assuring the county service organization funding for the coming year.

During the Session, the directors noted that they were pleased to sign the contract with the fund and said that officials of the fund had expressed their desire to help the county service continue its work.

The directors pointed out that the need for the agency has been expressed by the full load its counselor, Rev. Ed Allee, has experienced this year at the local outlet.

Also in the meeting, the directors set their next session for Oct. 1. Clair Albin, Route 1, Greencastle and former city Postmaster, was in attendance at the meeting and it was announced that he is a new member of the board.

Happy September!
The Library will be closed on Labor Day. But on Tuesday, Sept. 4, the above schedule will be in effect.

The Story Time program, however, will begin the following Tuesday, Sept. 11.

We are pleased to announce that the GPCL is able to make its unique contribution to "Old Fashioned Days," the theme for Fair-On-The-Square this year.

In digging through the files, we have found memorabilia from our own past—photographs and other records—which we think you'll enjoy seeing. Mr. George Long of Books Plus has agreed to our placing them in his window for the Sept. 6, 7, 8 celebration. Look for them!

Some interesting books to read, now that the children are back in school? We have them:

Feathers in the Fire, by Catherine Cookson. A Gothic romance set on a tenant farm in late 19th century England.

Museums and Women, and Other Stories, by John Updike. The master story-teller's most varied collection of short stories.

An Untold Story: the Roosevelts of Hyde Park, by Elliott Roosevelt and James Brough. A controversial biography by Eleanor and Franklin's son.

High Blood Pressure

The effects of high blood pressure—also known as hyper-tension—kill one out of every eight Americans, every year. This year alone, high blood pressure will kill 250,000 people. HBP leads to strokes, heart failure, serious kidney problems and frequently to early death.

Often referred to as "the silent-killer," high blood pressure can exist without any visible symptoms for long periods of time. You can feel healthy, look terrific and experience no outward signs of tension whatsoever, because high blood pressure silently exerts its mechanical tension on your circulatory system.

Statistics indicate that 23 million Americans—one out of ten adults—have high blood pressure. If you're over 50, black, or both, the odds increase.

Fortunately, high blood pressure can be easily determined and controlled. Your blood pressure can be taken in 30 seconds, painlessly, easily and inexpensively. Take advantage of the National High Blood Pressure Educational Screening Programs soon to take place in many areas. Or, consult with your family physician. Get your blood pressure taken before your number's up.

Added Criteria Established For Sales Tax Status

Additional criteria have been established for determining the sales tax status of certain food items or classes, Donald H. Clark, Indiana Department of Revenue Commissioner said today.

The modified definition of "food for immediate consumption," a category on which sales tax is levied, will be effective beginning today.

"Any food which is cooked to the order of the purchaser, or which is cooked and maintained at or near the cooking temperature prior to sale shall be considered to be sold as a meal or for immediate consumption and shall be subject to the sales tax," Clark explained.

"In addition prepared food which is sold by the piece rather than by weight or measure shall also be considered to be sold as a meal or for immediate consumption and as such shall be subject to the sales tax," he added.

The modification is aimed at further clarifying the tax status of food items sold on a "take-out" or "to-go" basis.

Liquid handwashing detergents are not an ecological problem, as they contain little or no phosphates.

Opening lead — three of hearts.

A deal arose in a pair championship. It was played at 26 tables and produced a wide variety of results. The most popular contracts were six clubs or six notrump, though actually seven clubs was ice cold.

The grand slam was bid at only three tables, but it must be said in all fairness that it is a difficult contract to reach. North-South had only 31 high-card points, and it was mighty hard for them to realize that the 9 points held by East-West, including an ace, were of no value to the defense.

Our story, however, concerns itself mostly with what happened at one table where the bidding went as shown. East doubled six clubs in order to command a heart lead, the first suit named by the opening bidder.

Whether East should have doubled is certainly debatable. One can see that he wanted a heart lead through dummy, but one can also see that the grounds for hoping this would defeat the contract were insubstantial.

South redoubled, recognizing that East had chosen a particularly bad moment for a double. He knew that the heart lead East was demanding could not help the defense a bit. West duly led a heart and South duly made all the tricks.

The odd result was that North-South wound up with a top score on the board, outscoring even the three pairs who had bid the grand slam.

Seven clubs bid and made came to 2,140 points, while six clubs redoubled, with an overtrick yielded 2,180 points. It would seem that East should have maintained a stoic silence.

Ten Commandments for today's wives

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a faithful Abby fan ever since you started writing your column in 1956. Whenever I would leave the city, I'd ask my housekeeper to save the newspapers, because I didn't want to miss even one of your articles.

To my mind, the best thing you ever wrote was "The Ten Commandments for Wives." Then a few months later, you topped yourself with a companion piece titled, "The Ten Commandments for Husbands."

Today we desperately need to be reminded of some old-fashioned rules for making a marriage work. Will you please publish those articles again?

SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR SAN FRANCISCO: I still receive requests for copies of the items you mention. A surprising number of readers have asked for permission to reprint them in their church bulletins. In all humility and with no intended irreverence to Moses, here are my TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR WIVES:

1. Defile not thy body neither with excessive foods, tobacco, nor alcohol, that thy days may be long in the house which thy husband provideth for thee.
2. Putteth thy husband before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for he is thy lifelong companion.
3. Thou shalt not nag.
4. Permit no one to tell thee that thou art having a hard time of it; neither thy mother, thy sister, nor thy neighbor, for the Judge will not hold her guiltless who letteth another disparage her husband.
5. Thou shalt not withhold affection from thy husband, for every man loveth to be loved.
6. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness and modest attire.
7. Forgive with grace, for who among us does not need forgiveness?
8. Remember that the frank approval of thy husband is worth more to thee than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers.
9. Keep thy home in good order, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.
10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

[Next weekend, "The Ten Commandments for Husbands."]

DEAR ABBY: Am I normal? Or am I ready for the funny farm? I look for bugs and insects in my house, garden, furniture, rugs, and even on my kids. If I should spot an insect in the house [say an ant or a spider], I immediately start a thoro search for more, and I go berserk cleaning, scrubbing, and spraying wherever I think they might be coming from.

If I find an insect I'm not familiar with, I get out my encyclopedia and look up everything I can find on it. I then become even more interested in bugs, and start on another crusade to get rid of bugs I'm not even sure I have.

I take beds apart and inspect the box springs and mattresses. I even examine the pile in my carpet with a magnifying glass. I'm constantly checking our dog for fleas, and my kids' hair for lice! [I never found any.]

Do normal people behave this way? Or am I . . .

LOSING MY MARBLES?

DEAR LOSING: Since you question your stability, I'd say you have a problem. Ask your doctor to recommend a therapist who can give you a psychological de-bugging.

CONFIDENTIAL TO E. L.: Forget it, forget! "Hating people is like burning down your own house to get rid of a rat." [Harry E. Fosdick]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Last Night's Football Results

Cubs Crush Cougars 34 to 2
In a penalty plagued game that lasted over two and half hours the Greencastle Tiger Cubs crushed the Putnam Cougars 34-2 at Greencastle last night in the season opener for both teams.

The Cubs took advantage in the early moments of the game when Bob Newsome pushed across from the two yard line to put in the last six with 6:11 on the clock. The Cubs next td came with: 35 left in the quarter as John Allee crashed across the one yard line. Kim Jones ran the two point conversion and the Cubs make it 14-0.

In the second quarter Kim Jones broke loose with a 46 yard run which upped the Cubs advantage to 20-0. Putnam two points came early in the third quarter when they caught the Cubs in the end zone with 11:18 on the clock in just over two minutes. After the Putnam safety the Cubs came back with a seven yard run by Stacy Spencer to make the score 26-2.

Greencastle's final td came in the final period with 11:11 on the clock when Cub's qb Randy Jones uncorked a pass to John Sierase who dashed across the goal line making the tally 32-2. Spencer then quickly did a two point conversion winning the game for the Cubs with a 34-2 margin.

The Cubs travel to North Central next Friday looking for their second win of the season while North Putnam will host Avon.

Clovers Dropped by Fountain Central

Scoring the first time it had possession of the football, Fountain Central went on to mark up 25 points while holding Cloverdale's Clovers scoreless in last night's game at Cloverdale.

Despite the Mustangs quick TD, with the extra point failing, the Clovers were able to make a close ballgame of it the first half as they held the visitors scoreless the rest of the way and came close to scoring on 2 occasions.

But errors proved the Clovers downfall in the third stanza as 2 passes ended in the arms of Mustang gridders and were converted to two touchdowns, however extra point tries failed.

The Mustangs final score was noted in the final stanza with two minutes to go, this time completing that extra point try.

Rain, Thefts Cause NHRA Many Worries

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Wally Parks, president of the National Hot Rod Association, has to be wondering if the fates are against the running of the 19th U.S. Nationals drag races.

O n-again, off-again rain caused a series of delays during Thursday's second day of qualifying, but that was only a minor problem.

Among the more serious troubles were a pair of non-injury accidents and evening lightning bolts which wiped out the electric timing devices at Indianapolis Raceway Park.

An A Class gas dragster failed to negotiate a turn while moving to the starting line and crashed into a parked car and a motor home before coming to a halt. Later, a top fuel dragster, without its driver, was pushed into an ambulance in a freak pit accident.

Parks and his 100-man NHRA crew were not too dismayed by these developments, however, in view of what already has occurred in an event that ranks as the largest of its kind from the standpoint of both spectators and contestants.

First, someone broke into one of the official NHRA station wagons Monday and made off with an electronic calculator and a special device used to check fuel content.

The same day, NHRA officials discovered that someone had entered the raceway grounds and snipped bits and pieces of all the wiring to the public address system and the timers.

Then, Wednesday, an Ohio newspaper published a story indicating all Indiana service stations would be closed during the Labor Day weekend, prompting "about 30 or 40 calls" from anxious Ohio spectators concerned about getting back home.

"You've got to expect your share of these things anytime you attempt to stage an event of this magnitude," said Parks. "Things should settle down significantly this weekend, and we anticipate our best race ever."

Among those yet to experience problems are Don

Schumacher and Bob Glidden.

Schumacher, Park Ridge, Ill., the 1970 Nationals titlist, had the three quickest qualifying times for the funny car division Thursday — 6.60, 6.61 and 6.60 seconds. Glidden, Greenwood, Ind., kept his pro stock lead with a pair of 9.11 times.

There were co-leaders in top fuel Thursday as both Don Moody of Westchester, Calif., and Marvin Schwartz of Largo, Fla., posted times of 6.19 seconds.

$400,000 In One Year, No Drag

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Drag racing is big business. I, you don't believe it, just take a look at the $400,000 that Don Schumacher's operation grossed last year.

But you can also look at the debit column for comparison with a business ledger.

"I lose money every time I go up and down the track," the 28-year-old former national champ said as he prepared his funny car for this week's U.S. Nationals at Indianapolis Raceway Park.

"I suppose it would cost me $40,000 just to run one car in a year. Obviously, it takes sponsors and their money to make it in drag racing."

Schumacher's costs for this year's Nationals will be at least $5,000, and as high as $8,000 if there are any major part breakages. He's entered three cars.

The Park Ridge, Ill., driver said, "I hope to break even here. The only way I could show a profit would be to win. And I didn't come here to lose."

Schumacher admits he grossed $400,000 last year. And his wife Pat added quickly, "It was a shock to me when I signed the tax papers last year."

Rules Could Be Changed Next Year

By DARRELL CHRISTIAN

Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A member of the All-American Soap Box Derby's advisory board says this year's cheating scandal never would have happened if national officials had accepted new ideas.

This year's winner, James Gronen of Boulder, Colo., was disqualified after officials found his racer had a built-in electromagnet system in violation of derby rules.

Each racer rests against a metal starting gate at the top of the track at Derby Downs in Akron, Ohio. Officials said Gronen's car was pulled down the track by the magnet's attraction to the starting gate.

Brooks Townsend, derby director at Anderson, Ind., said an aluminum starting device would have made the magnet system ineffective.

Townsend said aluminum posts have been used for several years at Anderson, but Akron officials ignored the suggestion of employing them for the national race.

Officials also could X-ray cars before the race instead of after to detect illegal construction, he said.

Townsend, who won the Anderson race several years ago, and his brother, Terry, a former national champion, have encouraged thousands of youngsters to get involved in the derby.

But Brooks Townsend stressed they merely give advice, rather than help with actual building of the racers.

Gronen's uncle, he said, called him for advice before the 1973 competition, but never mentioned the magnet system.

"I've worked my tail off ever since I was 11 years old for the derby and now because this guy (Gronen's uncle) was one of thousands who called me for help, some people are trying to connect me with it. It just isn't true," he said.

Townsend did say he thinks "they're making more out of this than it should be. This is a guy who out and out cheated. He got caught, rightfully so. This guy was so concerned about winning that he did it at a poor boy's expense."

But while Townsend believes the cheating incident has "made a big mess out of the derby," he says the annual affair will be better for it in the long run.

Corso Pleased With Hoosiers In Early Rounds

BLOOMINGTON Ind.(AP)—Indiana University pleased Coach Lee Corso so much with Wednesday's first scrimmage of the season that they got to do it again yesterday.

"Our mistakes were those in assignments, things can be corrected by teaching," Corso said of Wednesday's outing. "Aggressiveness and movement to the ball, things which can't be taught, were excellent."

Meanwhile, the Hoosiers have gotten a lift with the speedy recovery of standout defensive tackle Carl Barzilauskas, who broke a bone in his left foot on the first day of practice. The 6-foot-6, 270-pound senior shed his cast after one week instead of the projected three and now is off crutches.

Agase Hopes

P.U. Injuries

Not Pattern

WEST LAFAYETTE Ind. (AP)—Purdue football Coach Alex Agase just hopes pre-season scrimmages aren't setting a pattern for the Boilermakers' physical endurance in games.

Pleased with the team's execution after its first two scrimmages, Agase complained Thursday that his "big problem is bumps and bruises."

Senior safety Tim Racke missed Thursday's workout with a sprained ankle suffered in Wednesday's scrimmage, in which sophomore Doug Crum broke a hand. Crum had moved into a starting position after Cedric Evans broke two hand bones last week.

Agase eased the contact schedule for the second straight day today in hopes some of the nagging injuries will heal before Saturday's scrimmage.

College Football Player Has

Female Roommate

TOLEDO Ohio (AP)—Tom Osborne, a tight end on the University of Toledo football team, may be the only player on the team with a female roommate.

He also may be the only college football player in the nation whose female roommate is a snake.

This unusual liaison tends to restrict the Osborne hospitality a bit, too.

Osborne's roommate is a pet boa constrictor he named Herbie, even though Herbie is a female.

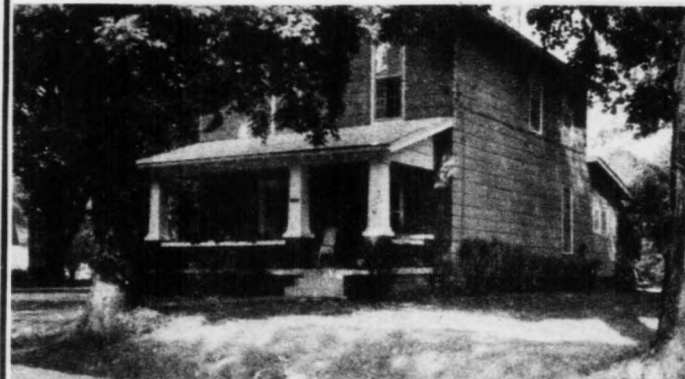

Herbie is only 42 inches long right now, but eventually she will be nine feet long and about as big around as a man's forearm.

Good American antiques are hard to find and prices have escalated, but one church group hasn't been stopped from amassing a number of purchases that they hope will contribute to another bonanza for their treasury at this year's annual auction and fair.

In fact, any church in need of a new wing or a bit of expensive refurbishing might profit by the experiences of the Connecticut church that cleared $20,000 in an auction last year.

All it takes is time, elbow grease and know-how on the part of parishioners.

"The $20,000 was a little more than we usually clear,"

Sculptor Says Spirits Guide Work

By ALY MAHMOUD
BEIRUT (AP) — Lebanon's most eminent sculptor says he invokes spirits of the dead to carve statues of Jesus Christ and long dead knights and heroes.

Karim Rahbani says he employs that technique "to envision images of great personalities whose facial features have long been lost in mists of oblivion, unrecorded history."

Guided by the spirits of several saints, he says, his carving of a 40-foot-high white statue of Jesus Christ evokes tranquility and confidence.

The statue will be transferred from Rahbani's workshop in Aley to the courtyard of the Sacre-Coeur hospital here. It cost nearly $30,000, and Rahbani says he will get about $40,000 for it.

He declined to elaborate on how he conducts his one-man seances and how he communicates with the spirits of the dead. But he vows to "carve statues and portraits of many prophets and heroes of ancient times."

Spiritualism is practiced by mudesters who seek solutions from long-dead sages for their day-by-day problems. More than a dozen people in Arab countries have made fortunes by practicing fortune-telling through spiritualism.

Rahbani says his family began practicing spiritualism more than 40 years ago, when Karim's father summoned the spirit of Imam Ali, the fourth caliph of the Moslem empire of the seventh century.

"Days before my birth," says Rahbani, "the Imam's spirit ordered my father to give me the name of Ali. But my Catholic mother objected and called me Karim."

In subsequent years, when Karim took up sculpture, Imam Ali's spirit came to him on several occasions, he claims.

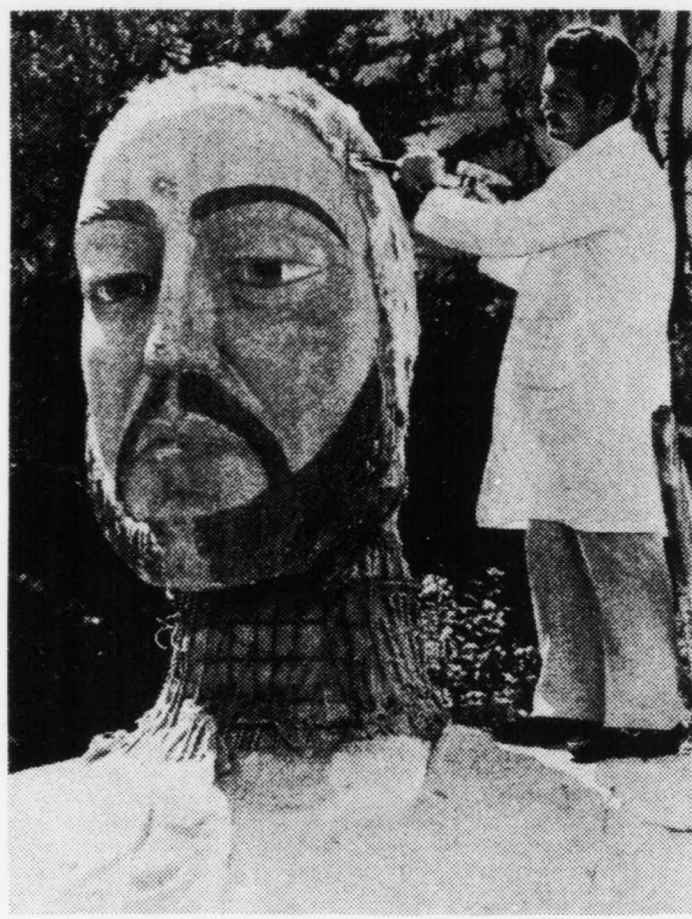

Rahbani carved a stone tablet portrait of the Imam, which he regards as a mascot.

At the behest of the Imam's spirit, Rahbani cut a 27-foot-high statue of the late Egyptian leader Gamal Abdel Nasser. The coffee-brown bronze statue is to be erected in a square at the town of Qab-elias near Beirut.

At the beginning of his career Rahbani averaged $14 a week. Now he says he commands an average of $1,500 a week.

He likes to display to his guests a half dozen medals and awards conferred on him by African and Arab heads of state.

Rahbani is particularly proud of a bronze portrait of Pope Paul, which he finished last year and hopes to present personally at the Vatican.

GIANT STATUE—Working in his garden in the mountain resort town of Aley, Lebanon, Karim Rahbani chisels away at the head of a 40-foot-high statue of Jesus Christ.

Excavations at Biblical Site

By MARCUS ELIASON
GEZER, Israel (AP) — Buried under tons of debris lies a metropolis that commanded the highways of antiquity, flourished most in time of war, and ironically became extinct when the Romans brought peace to the Middle East 1,800 years ago.

An American archaeological team is winding up a 10-year exploration of Gezer. With only a tiny fraction of its 25-acre walled area uncovered, the ancient city will probably fade again into limbo when the dig ends.

But the Biblical site has yielded a cornucopia of archaeological prizes.

The diggers' main achievement has been to find evidence of a staggering 26 levels of occupancy in Gezer's 3,300 years as a living city. Digging downward to expose cross-sections of the strata, the Americans have painstakingly recorded layer after layer of buildings and pottery techniques as civilizations followed one another across three millennia.

Built on the northernmost foothill of the Judean range, overlooking the sprawling Mediterranean coastal plain of what today is Israel, Gezer was a strategic city. Every warrior sought to conquer it, from the early Egyptians to the Hasmonean Jews at the dawn of Christ's era.

For whoever held Gezer dictated who could travel south to north or west or east in this part of the world. The city straddled the traditional border between the lowland Philistines and Egyptians, and the Judeans and Israelites of the highlands.

Today, lying in central Israel 20 miles south of Tel Aviv, Gezer is accessible only by bumpy dirt track. The place that once bustled with commerce and rang with cries of war looks in stony silence upon a nearby cement factory belching smoke, and a superhighway being built between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem, rudely bypassing the city that once was a Mideast cross-road.

"In terms of a junction, Gezer was like Chicago or St. Louis," says Dr. Joe D. Seger, who led the Hebrew Union College of Jerusalem on its Gezer expedition, one of Israel's biggest digs.

Antiques —

observed Dorothy Henderson, manager of this 30th annual Yankee Fair of the Wilton Congregational Church. "We try to clear $10,000, but last year we were fortunate in having an estate of good early American furniture donated to us."

Usually they buy practically everything, and the secret of the fair's success is in the fine furnishings it acquires. Mrs. Henderson remarked. For example, a highboy that sold at the fair for $2,800 seven years ago, was recently auctioned at Parke Bernet Galleries for $8,000, she said.

Two parishioners, Justine Millikan and her late husband, set the standard for quality antiques that has made the Yankee Fair well known in the East. Mrs. Millikan bought the antiques and her husband headed teams of men who refurbished them throughout the year. But as it became more difficult to corral men for the evening work — most were commuters to New York — women gradually took over.

Twenty women and several men work through the year, steady chair rungs, gluing, refinishing, renewing hardware.

The Greencastle Church is a group of people, most of whom are dedicated to service unto God. They believed in Christ with all their hearts, repented of their sins, confessed the Divinity of Christ, and were baptized into Christ for the remission of their sins, according to the Scriptures, ACTS 2:38; GAL. 3:26, 27; They continue in faith and obedience seeking the crown of eternal life, 2 TIMOTHY 4:8.

The preacher in Greencastle is not popular with the world, not even with the worldly churches of Christ. He is not a "scholar" but is a dedicated student of God's Word. We cannot advertise him as a "dynamic, silver-tongued orator." (Although he has had wide experience with churches, clubs, and business organizations as a speaker) He is not a diplomat, though courteous and reasonable. He does not wear an exalted title (FATHER, REVEREND, ETC.). He is not in competition with anyone except the devil-competing for men's souls.

The building where these people assemble, 637 E. Washington St., is a modest one seating about 200-modest compared with worldly standards. There is always room for you to be with us anytime. We would also be happy to teach you the truth of God in your home, call us any time for an appointment, 653-4021.

If the above facts about us interest you why not visit our services now?

Ask your neighbors to come too.

WORRY CLINIC

Carolyn can develop a fascinating discussion in her church Young Peoples' Society by use of the "5 Laws for Complimenting." For love develops from compliments and they are ideal ammunition for zooming church attendance.

CASE Y-506: Carolyn B., aged 17, is President of her church Young Peoples' Society.

"Dr. Crane," she asked, "I am to lead the meeting next Sunday night."

"And the topic is to be about love."

"So would it be appropriate for me to say that 'love' is the most important word in our English language?"

LOVE VS. COMPLIMENT

There is a more basic term than "love" and that is "compliment."

For love develops out of original compliments.

And often dies for lack of them.

So "compliment" is the basic foundation for "love."

For example, a smile is a non-verbal (sign language) form of compliment.

When a girl smiles at a classmate, her curved lips indicate some such paragraph of printed words as these:

"Your presence is pleasing to me. I hope we can be friends. What do you say about that possibility?"

And if he smiles back, a friendship is already being launched that may lead to romance and even a wedding ring, if they are of the proper age and are unattached.

Oscar Wilde once stated:

"An acquaintance that begins with a compliment is sure to develop into a real friendship."

And real friendships that arise between two compatible and eligible members of the opposite sex, often end in happy marriages.

But you should never stop with just the smile (sign language compliment).

Follow up with a spoken bit of praise for some commendable trait in the other person which merits praise.

A compliment is not flattery. And if you young men run short of conversation-starters while on a date, you can always fall back on the use of a compliment to break the embarrassing pause and get the conversational machinery in motion.

But when you fade out of your part of the dialogue, do so with a question mark!

For that interrogation mark is shaped like a fishhook so it is an excellent psychological device for "hooking" the other person into continuing the conversation.

Men, don't stop by saying: "That's a cute hat you are wearing!"

Instead fade out with a question mark, as:

"That's a cute hat you are wearing. Mary, for doesn't the blue match your pretty eyes?"

That also permits you to come closer so you can look deeply into those eyes.

Don't be alarmed, either, that your compliment will seem too "fresh" or "forward," for people enjoy big doses of compliments.

There are "5 Laws for Complimenting" which Carolyn can profitably discuss and demonstrate before her Young Peoples' society.

For church people are supposed to be salesmen, like St. Paul, to help recruit new members.

But you can't sell merchandise or even religion unless you first are liked by the prospect!

So send for the booklet "The Compliment Club," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.
